Burn Care & Prevention

Dear Colleagues,

We are proud to present you with the first issue of Burn Care and Prevention Journal that will be published 4 issues a year; March, June, September and December.

Millions of people burn every year and all suffer; some of them die and many are permanently disfigured. Individuals suffering from burns are affected not only physically but also psychologically and socio-economically. As physicians in the field of burn care, our first goal should be to create public awareness and to educate our nations regarding prevention of fire and burns.

Burn Care and Prevention will address a variety of cutting-edge issues in the field of burn injuries and fire disasters. The journal will provide a medium forum for clinical scientists, basic scientists, ethicists, and public health professionals to communicate ideas and advances in the field of burn care, prevention of burn injuries, research, education, delivery of acute care, and to discuss related social and ethical issues. The topics will be of interest to all professionals involved in preventing and treating the effects of burns.

The Journal accepts original articles, research articles, review articles, case reports, reports on clinical care, rehabilitation and prevention, surgical techniques, letters to the editor, and editorial.

The Editorial team of Burn Care and Prevention invites you to contribute your valuable work in the upcoming issues via Manuscript Central at <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/bcpj>.

Sincerely,

Mehmet Haberal, MD, FASA (Hon), FACS (Hon),
